COMMUNITY AND CONNECTION

Everyone is welcome at the CSU. It is our diversity, in fact, that fuels our collective greatness and makes it possible for students to find a sense of belonging and community.

During your time at the CSU, community will likely come to mean many different things to you: The lasting friendships you create. The world-class teaching and hands-on learning opportunities you'll experience. And the professional network you start to form—one you can rely on throughout your career.

We also define student success as how you succeed both in and outside the classroom. Academic support such as tutoring, academic advisement and career services can be found at every university as well as opportunities to expand your learning through study abroad and internships. You can also access a wide range of services to support your mental and emotional well-being.

Find your community, whether through membership in clubs and organizations, engaging in recreation centers and sports or participating in the arts. Every university has activities outside of the classroom to help you grow and thrive.
