SUPPORTING FUTURE CSU FACULTY

“ The CDIP has provided me social support throughout my doctoral program. I have presented at conferences, attended summer research institutes, and participated in community engagement with underrepresented minorities and undocumented individuals. These experiences have contributed to data for my dissertation and research collaborations with faculty members. ”

Data reported as of October 2023

“ CDIP allowed me to thrive in the Ph.D. program in Sociology at the University of California, Santa Barbara. As a product of the CSU system, I credit CDIP for giving me wings and allowing me, as a first-generation, former-undocumented, justice-impacted Chicano from the inner-city of Los Angeles, to navigate academia. I continue to pay it forward by mentoring CDIP scholars and nurturing them to become CSU faculty. ”

WHAT IS CDIP?

The California State University (CSU) Chancellor’s Doctoral Incentive Program (CDIP) provides an opportunity for exceptional students interested in teaching in the CSU to receive comprehensive support during their doctoral studies. The CSU has an ambitious goal of increasing graduation rates for all students while eliminating opportunity and achievement gaps. Fundamental to meeting this goal is supporting efforts to create a qualified and diverse faculty to meet the needs of the most ethnically and economically diverse student body in the nation.

CDIP is committed to supporting promising doctoral students who aspire to join the CSU faculty ranks. More than half (59%) of fellows have successfully completed their programs. Among those fellows who earned their doctoral degree, 69% have obtained a faculty position at a CSU campus. CDIP supports the academic pursuit of fellows in many ways.

CDIP OFFERS THESE BENEFITS:

*CDIP does not guarantee employment at a CSU campus. For more information, visit calstate.edu/cdip.
